NOT SHORT

Publishers Weekly bestselling author, Jenna Kernan, writes romantic suspense that RT BookClub called "Flat-out good." including her popular APACHE PROTECTOR series for Harlequin Intrigue debuting in 2015 and continuing in 2016 and 2017 with twelve books in all. She also writes Western historical romance and paranormal romance and has over thirty titles to her credit.

Her Western historical romances have been twice nominated for the RITA® Award, and, in 2010, her debut paranormal, in The Tracker series, won the Book Buyers Best Award for paranormal romance.

Jenna Kernan is every bit as adventurous as her heroines. Her hobbies include recreational gold prospecting, scuba diving and gem hunting. Her adventures have taken her above the Arctic Circle in Alaska in search of gold nuggets, to Maine for tourmaline and most recently fossil hunting in the rivers of Florida. Jenna loves to walk and hike whether at the beach, through the urban jungle or in crisp mountain air. When not adventuring, Jenna enjoys time beach-walking, jewelry-making and reading a great romance, of course.

Jenna grew up in the Catskill Mountains, where she spent much of her childhood out-of-doors. This gave her a love and respect for nature that is a reoccurring theme throughout her stories.

Jenna currently lives on a beach in Florida with her husband. Jenna posts beach videos and sunset pics at <https://www.facebook.com/AuthorJennaKernan>. Join Jenna's newsletter at www.jennakernan.com for sneak peeks, subscriber-only giveaways, first looks at new releases and freebies.
