LONGISH (300 WORDS)

Publishers Weekly bestselling author, Jenna Kernan, writes domestic thrillers and fast-paced crime thrillers described by readers as “jaw-dropping,” “riveting,” “gritty,” and “gripping.” She received a Silver Falchion award nomination in 2020 from Killer Nashville and is a 2021 bronze medal winner in the Florida Book Awards Popular Fiction category for her debut thriller, A Killer's Daughter.

Jenna is a genre-jumper with roots in romantic suspense and has written more than forty books. Her gripping crime thrillers, A Killer's Daughter and The Hunted Girls feature a criminal psychologist, and daughter of an infamous female serial killer, facing a series of murders in Florida. Her 2022 releases include, The Adoption, a domestic thriller set in Tampa and introduces a couple whose nearly perfect life seems complete with the arrival of a new baby, but their happy family turns into a nightmare when dark secrets and a menacing woman threaten. Also in 2022, The Ex-wives, a domestic thriller, set in Florida featuring a wife who discovers that her outwardly perfect new husband has two stepdaughters on the FBI's list of missing children sending her down a rabbit hole to protect her child.

Born in Cooperstown and raised in the Leatherstocking region of Upstate New York, Jenna worked in the public schools for over thirty years where she wrote on her lunch breaks, summer breaks and occasionally during faculty meetings. In 2003, she was plucked out of the slush pile and traditionally published.

Jenna is a member of numerous writing groups, including International Thriller Writers, Mystery Writers of America, Sisters in Crime, Florida Mystery Writers, Gulf Coast Sisters in Crime, Authors Guild, and Novelists, Inc. She frequently attends conferences, including MurderCon, Bouchercon, Sleuthfest, and ThrillerCon.

Jenna lives on Florida's Gulf Coast with her husband. Beyond writing, she enjoys kayaking, fishing, scuba diving, and clearing a room with her banjo ukulele. A natural redhead living in the Sunshine State, she has increased her sunblock to SPF 50. Visit her on social media and at jennakernan.com
